

RECYCLE YOUR OLD ELECTRONICS

Do you have old electronics that you no longer use? Please consider recycling them and help save the animals. Coltan, an ore that provides essential components for cell phones and other electronics is primarily mined in critical habitats for gorillas and chimpanzees. By recycling old electronics, we can reduce the need for mining in areas where these magnificent creatures live. It will help protect critical habitat as well as keep toxic chemicals out of our landfills. Any of the following electronics can be accepted for recycling: flip-phones, smartphones, iPhones, iPods, iPads, tablets, Apple\Android watches, Bluetooth tablets, GPS, MP3 players, e-readers, digital cameras, and handheld gaming systems. Please drop off your old electronics in the box located in Salem's Narthex. Thank you for supporting this project!
